

Artist Bio

Evan Kareem has been drawing traditionally and digitally for many years.

The style of his art usually focusses on abstract division in art style, specifically in combining colours and geometric patterns and taking patterns from nature, natural phenomenon and landscapes and portraying those using various unusual ways. There appears some elements of surrealism there.

Although his way of “drawing” i.e. (digital) drawing/3d modelling necessarily does not rest on one particular way of appearance, as sometimes its simple objects, sometimes its geometric patterns, sometimes it's a blend of colours, sometimes its landscape drawing or experimenting with light refraction and sometimes it's a combination of any of these things to bring out something new.

The reason for practicing multiple style of drawing is not to be stuck and fixed at one particular style but to be able to instantly draw anything that he can visualize in his mind in a flexible way, which could be a barrier if he only sticks to one style of drawing.

Although he never could get into to art school but took a slightly different route, he studied Drama and Performance Arts in college and studied Computer Science in University of Sheffield Hallam in the United Kingdom, which personally he does realize that it is a strange combination even till this day.

Spent many days understanding computer programming but also was always on the lookout to try to get his hands on to work with new art based software such as 3d modelling tools, colour grading software, pattern generation tool, generative art software, image recognition software etc.

He continued to experiment with tools such as these to always find out how to generate art in a new way.

People generally might give a philosophical answer of what art means.

But to him art in is about portrayal of beauty, very simple.

For his art compositions its nothing to do with anything philosophical or with hidden subliminal meanings, but just purely about trying to portray “things” that would hopefully attract the eye for a moment, even if it is once. Whether it is through colour, movement i.e. animation, lines, patterns or even sounds or combination of any of these.

Although he does realize that its not always about being in line with the Golden Ratio or anything mathematically defined measurement as beauty is generally towards the eye of the beholder.

What besides art interests him is Quantum Physics and the fascinating mind bending topics that it contains, however would he try make an artwork out of this topic ? Well that remains to be seen. Its not everyday you can see the 4th dimension if it even exists.

Gold art story

Gold Art is a collection of artworks that consists of patterns you find in nature.

It has the resemblance of the natural phenomenon of Antelope Canyon Caves in Arizona, USA.

According to scientists these are the result of many millennia of weather extremes, and these canyons were thereby formed over thousands of years of flash flooding of the intermittent creek running through it, wearing away the Navajo sandstone rock-face before emptying into the Colorado River and currently into Lake Powell.

At the times of long periods of drought, windblown sand would polish the narrow slot walls into a striated, swirling finish. In this place there seems to be an ever-changing play of light upon its walls and the flowing sandfalls that cascade into the depths of the slot canyon.

In this artwork patterns like these natural phenomena have been reflected and shown in such a way like those are carved on a big heavy block of gold being displayed on a large wall of gold in a museum. - A decorative block of gold.

Estimated gold block dimensions - 2.0 M width x 1.9 M height

Gold art pricing - $350 Each

No auction

Light waves story

Light waves is a collection of artworks that consist of a huge amount of colourfulness and vibrance.

It can loosely have the resemblance of aurora borealis but also a combination of a flowing riverbed or a waterfall, so these natural phenomena can be reflected in here.

Those are slow flowing waves to show calmness in movements.

Light Waves pricing - $300 Each

No auction